Police move to allay fears over closure of station

PLEDGE TO KEEP THE TOWN SAFE

Report by Henry James

Skelmersdale Police Station in Southway is being closed for modernisation work expected to take up to 18 months.

SKELMERSDALE Police have moved to allay fears about the possible repercussions of the plan to close the town's station for up to 18 months by stating they are doing "everything in their power" to keep the town safe.

More than 250 comments have been made on the force's social media page since the temporary closure was announced at the start of this month, many by residents expressing concerns about the move.

When the closure of the Southway site was initially revealed police said that for the duration of the planned upgrade the majority of staff and equipment will temporarily relocate to Ormskirk Police Station, about seven miles away (15 minutes drive.)

It was stated that due to its age and condition, the Skelmersdale station is "no longer fit for purpose" and as such is being "upgraded and modernised from the start of June."

However, the decision has prompted concern among residents with reference being made to the number of knife-related incidents reported in recent months and fears that response times will be affected.

One resident, Paul Davies, commented: "Great timing to close the police station down and relocate. If things weren't bad enough in Skem at the minute, it's gonna get a lot worse now. Something else Skem now doesn't have. Response time to any incidents are going to be non-existent."

However Skelmersdale Police responded by posting: "Please be assured though we are being proactive and doing everything we can to tackle issues, for example using our powers of stop and search, including those under Section 60, if they are justified and proportionate. We'll do everything in our power to keep Skem safe."

Meanwhile they have reiterated that members of the Neighbourhood Team will be at the P.U.L.S.E centre in the Concourse from 10.30am until noon every Monday, Wednesday and Friday (excluding bank holidays).

A message on their social media page read: "With the majority of staff having completed the temporary move to Ormskirk, starting tomorrow (April 24) neighbourhood officers will be attending the P.U.L.S.E. centre in the Concourse shopping centre. Here you can speak to your local officers in an informal setting about any concerns you may have.

"If you need to log an incident, continue to do so by ringing 101 or in emergencies 999. The Ormskirk front desk is now open and you can still report incidents online."

Men-Aces' Harry tackles 200-length sponsored swim for favourite charity - using one arm!

A MEMBER of the Skem Men-Aces Disability Football Club took the plunge to raise much-needed funds for a charity that is close to his heart.

Harry Eaton, brother of Men-Aces' coach Carl, completed a 200-length sponsored swim in Skelmersdale's Nye Bevan Pool in aid of Mencap - despite only having the use of one arm as a result of dyspraxia, a developmental disorder of the brain in childhood causing difficulty in activities requiring co-ordination and movement!

The 55-year-old wanted to raise money for Mencap as the charity provides him with 24/7 support in his own home.

Admirers

Proud brother, Carl aid: "This was a fantastic effort as Harry used only one arm to do this fundraiser.

"He had many admirers at the event cheering him on, including his support team and his carer, Nick, who also did the 200 lengths, kept count and encouraged Harry all the way.

"We want to say a special thanks to staff from Nye Bevan Pool for allowing this event to take place, giving Harry his own special lane, and encouraging him from the side, as well as presenting him with a medal at the end."

Facebook ban for man who plotted to kill MP

THE Skelmersdale man who plotted to kill Rosie Cooper has been banned from Facebook.

Convicted paedophile Jack Renshaw (right), who is awaiting sentencing for the planned murder of the West Lancs MP, is among a number of individuals, including former BNP leader Nick Griffin, and far right organisations, such as the English Defence League (EDL) and the British National Party (BNP), banned from the site.

A statement issued by the US-based social media giant read: "Individuals and organisations who spread hate, or attack or call for the exclusion of others on the basis of who they are, have no place on Facebook.

"Under our dangerous individuals and organisations policy, we ban those who proclaim a violent or hateful mission or are engaged in acts of hate or violence.

"The individuals and organisations we have banned today violate this policy, and they will no longer be allowed a presence on Facebook or Instagram. Posts and other content which expresses praise or support for these figures and groups will also be banned."

Meanwhile it has also been reported that the whistleblower who foiled Renshaw's Rosie Cooper murder plot has himself received a number of death threats.

Police intelligence has revealed that Robbie Mullen, who leaked details of the plot to anti-racism campaign group, Hope Not Hate, has become a target for reprisals.

Chance for community projects to bid for share of funding pot

COMMUNITY projects in Lancashire have a chance to share in a £100,000 funding pot, courtesy of Tesco.

As part of celebrations to mark the supermarket giant's centenary community organisations from across the county are being invited to share two special 'Bags of Help' voting rounds.

Run in partnership with community charity Groundwork, the Bags of Help scheme sees funding awarded to thousands of local community projects every year. Since October 2015, Lancashire Bags of Help has awarded £1.5 million to 476 local projects.

Throughout July and August the first of two special funding rounds will concentrate on groups delivering health and wellbeing benefits, with a particular focus on groups tackling cancer, heart disease and diabetes.

Applications are open to all community projects bringing benefits across a region, with Tesco colleagues involved in shortlisting three applications in each area. Customers are then invited to vote for which group they'd like to receive grants of £25,000, £15,000 and £10,000, casting their votes using blue tokens handed out at checkout points.

Another voting round will launch in November.

Anyone can nominate a project for Bags of Help and Bags of Help Centenary Grants. Organisations and groups looking to apply can find out more by visiting www.tesco.com/bagsofhelp.

Must do better! Health watchdog report labels walk-in centre as in need of improvement

Report by Henry James

THE Virgin Care-operated Skelmersdale Walk-in Centre has been rated as 'Requires Improvement' following an inspection by the Care Quality Commission (CQC).

The centre, which provides walk-in and wait services for minor illnesses and injuries, has about 2,000 patient contacts per month, one fifth of which are children.

Although the CQC inspection was carried out in November last year the report of its finding has only just been published.

They found that the service "did not always have someone on site who was competent to assess and treat children."

The report also stated:

- "We had concerns in relation to the level of life support training provided for staff. We found the service did not routinely audit practice against national guidelines and evidence-based practice.
- "The service did not ensure processes were put in place to measure and monitor patient outcomes.
- "The service did not ensure patient pathways complied with best practice guidance to ensure patient treatment was up to date.
- "The service did not maintain an accurate and complete list of risks relating to the health and safety of service users."

However they did say that staff treated patients with "compassion and respect" and added that the service "promoted a culture of openness and improvement."

The NHS Walk-in Centre at the Concourse shopping centre.

Commenting on the findings West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper MP said: "This is very disappointing news that Skelmersdale Walk-in Centre run by Virgin Care was found to require improvement overall.

"Virgin Care have wrote to me explaining that the CQC felt that clinical staff needed additional competency in the assessment and treatment of children, and asked Virgin to put additional appropriate clinical cover in place. I am astonished that the leadership and management at Virgin Care did not identify these failings in the two years they have been operating, nor could the CCG who commissioned Virgin notice these issues.

"Was it difficult for the chair of West Lancashire CCG Dr John Caine and the CCG board to truly hold Virgin Care to the highest standards given the similar situation at Parbold Surgery also recently found to require improvement in safety and leadership?

"With the Elms Surgery in Ormskirk and Burscough Family Practice also requiring improvement according to the CQC, West Lancashire CCG needs to urgently take action to raise the standards of its GP and walk-in provision across the borough."

Virgin Care has said they have taken "immediate action" to fulfil recommendations made by the CQC following the inspection. Elaine Wilson, head of urgent care, said: "We are disappointed with the CQC's overall rating particularly since we had already identified the issue they raised and introduced an enhanced training package for staff.

"However, we welcome the CQC's feedback and have taken immediate action to meet the CQC's requirements including bringing in appropriate additional cover until our training programme is completed. We have also enhanced our resuscitation training and shared our rotas and training plans with the CQC who have indicated their assurance.

"We were pleased that the CQC found our services to be caring and responsive which is testament to the hard work of our team. We will continue to work hard to improve our overall rating to good and, in time, outstanding."

Virgin Care said they had made various improvements at the Skelmersdale Walk-in Centre since taking over management from South Ormskirk Hospital Trust in May 2017.

These included increased opening hours from 8am to 8pm seven days a week; the introduction of cross-site working to enhance skills; investment in new staff and training for existing staff; bringing in paramedics to enhance on-site skill mix; and the implementation of a shared governance structure.

A spokesperson for the NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group commented: "Skelmersdale walk-in centre is a valued service, both by the local GPs and commissioners here, and the wider community. We have been impressed with how Virgin Care and the team at the centre have quickly responded to the issues raised in the CQC report and effectively introduced appropriate solutions which we believe will ensure an improved rating from the inspectors in the future.

"We are also working closely with NHS England, Parbold Surgery, the Elms Surgery and Burscough Family Practice to ensure that measures are implemented to address issues raised in their respective CQC ratings.

"Local residents can remain assured that quality care will continue to be delivered from the walk-in centre and GP practices while we resolve actions from their respective inspections.

"Thank-you to the caring and diligent staff who continue to look after local patients."

Food manufacturers submit proposals for warehouse and vehicle parking area extensions

PLANS have been submitted to build an ancillary warehouse extension to the existing facility at Degrave House on the Whitemoss Business Park, Maple View, Skelmersdale and also extend existing car-parking and lorry-parking areas.

The site is the headquarters of AMC Fresh & Natural Foods who manufacture fruit juices, sauces, soup, non-dairy yoghurts and other confectionery products.

A design and access statement for the proposed development states: "The raison d'etre for the development is an urgent requirement to extend the existing B8 warehouse capacity following the 2017 internal alterations, and which is now extremely limited following the success of the existing on-site manufacturing facility.

"Without the proposed ancillary warehouse extension there will be a requirement to store product off-site, due to the limited site capacity which will entail vehicle movements onto and off the site to increase dramatically."

It's claimed the development would allow increased production capacity and provide more jobs.

The proposed car-parking extension would be to accommodate the increase in personnel cars. Already a considerable number of the combined staff have to park on the public highways or on the existing site car park's verges, which is seen as "decidedly unsafe" and has led to the public highway becoming "congested."

The applicant has confirmed that "they are not aware of any specific crime issues in or around the existing site." The applicant has a CCTV security system and this would be extended within the new ancillary warehouse extension. It's aimed to have in excess of 30 CCTV cameras which will be remotely accessed and constantly recording.

The proposal is to clear the area and its immediate surroundings while retaining the existing scrubland and saplings.

AMC Fresh and Natural Foods have said if the proposal is not accepted they may have to relocate the business.

Pledge to tighten up security at vandal-plagued former college site

SECURITY is to be stepped up at a former college site in the town following a spate of suspected arson attacks.

Last week's Champion reported that firefighters had been called to the former Westbank Campus, formerly used by West Lancashire College, on four occasions to deal with fires which they believed had been started deliberately.

Following the recent incidents a spokesperson for the NCG group told the Champion: "Due to the increased number of arson attacks at the site we plan to increase the security presence on site and install additional physical security measures around the buildings to further control the situation.

"We are still in talks with the local authority with regard to the long-term future of the site."

Following the fires, Lancashire Fire Brigade bosses hit out at the "stupidity" of the people behind the incidents, saying: "Whoever is responsible for these fires is endangering themselves and the lives of firefighters who are having to go into these buildings."

Meanwhile Skelmersdale North Councillor Neil Furey reiterated his call for the buildings to be demolished.

Firefighters had been called to the site to deal with similar incidents in February and last November.

West Lancs Council has sent officers to access the security of the buildings and will also be contacting the landowner with a "view to arranging any necessary works to be carried out."

School celebrates opening of new building project

STAFF at West Lancashire Community High School have celebrated the opening of their new building project.

For more than five years the specialist 11-19 provision institution in School Lane, Skelmersdale has been undertaking re-branding projects aimed at putting them at the forefront of education for young people with special needs within the West Lancs area.

Their new entrance area allows for greater ease in access for their children and families and also has a large meeting room which allows the school to host multi-agency meetings and specialist training.

There is also greater provision for supporting families with children with special needs with a family liaison officer and allocated family room.

The opening event was scheduled to coincide with the annual 'destinations' celebration assembly when pupils who left last summer are welcomed back to collect their accreditation certificates and update the school on where they are now.

This year the Mayor and Deputy Mayor of West Lancashire, Councillor Noel Delaney and Councillor Gaynar Owen were invited to present the accreditations.

And all 25 leavers from last year have kept the school updated as to their new adventures.

A school spokesman said: "All are either in education, employment or training in a wide variety of settings. It is a testament to their hard work and determination that they are embracing new opportunities and being real ambassadors for what can be achieved irrespective of disabilities."

Headteacher, Carole Austin, added: "We are immensely proud of our students in what they achieve everyday. A celebration event like this allows us to really capture the amazing long-term success of all their hard work.

"They are an inspiration to our existing students and send a clear message that in 2019 the bright prospects for young people with special needs enables them to be aspirational."

Also present at the event were headteachers from the local primary special schools who were able to give the additional background as to the amazing journeys the students have been on.

Rainbow House appeal for volunteers to help raise funds by tackling Morecambe Bay walk

Report by Kenny Parker

Volunteers taking part in last year's Cross Bay Walk in aid of Rainbow House.

OFFICIALS at a West Lancs charity which supports children and young people with neurological and physical disabilities are inviting members of the public to take part in a fundraising sponsored walk with a difference.

Mawdesley-based Rainbow House is recruiting a team of volunteers to help it raise much-needed funds by taking part in the first Cross Bay Walk of the year in Morecambe.

Morcambe Bay is the biggest expanse of tidal mudflats and sand in the UK and the Cross Bay Walk is only possible at certain times of the year and under expert guidance.

Picturesque

Rainbow House, has arranged for a group to join new guide Michael Wilson on the first walk of the year on Saturday, May 11

The picturesque walk will start at 10 am from Arnside Promenade and take around three to four hours across the sands of Morecambe Bay finishing at Kents Bank, near Grange-over-Sands.

The walk is roughly eight miles long involving two river crossings and negotiating gullies, and participants can expect to get wet up to their knees.

Children aged eight to 15 years who can walk the distance unaided, are welcome if accompanied by an adult.

Local fisherman Michael Wilson has taken over from Cedric Robinson who was guide for Kent Sands for 56 years and will continue to provide an advisory role.

The cost of the walk is £12 per adult, £7 per child (aged eight to 15) and £1 for dogs.

Anyone who would like to join the Rainbow House group for an "unforgettable experience" and help raise funds, can contact Emma Parish by email at e.parish@thelegacy-rainbowhouse.com or by phone on g01704 823276.

Man who overturned shopping centre parking fine urges others who think they’ve been wrongly charged to follow suit

Report by Henry James

A MAN whose wife was wrongly issued with a parking ticket for allegedly overstaying her allotted time at the Concourse shopping centre says he has successfully appealed against a fine issued by car park operators, Smart Parking.

And he urged others who believe they may have been wrongly fined to “stick to their guns” and challenge the ruling.

The Ashurst resident, who asked not to be named, said that Smart Parking had given his wife a ticket claiming that she had left her car at the centre from 9.20am until after 4pm in the afternoon.

In fact, he said, she had only stayed at the Concourse until just before 10am initially before returning later in the day.

He added: “We couldn’t believe it when we received the ticket. It said we had to pay £60 at first, which then rose to £200 plus £15 for administration.

“However, I managed to get photographic evidence of her buying petrol at Asda at 2.59pm which I sent to them and they cancelled it.

“When she received the ticket I called Smart Parking straight away and told them that was the only call I was going to make and I would see them in court.

“To anyone who thinks they have been wrongly issued a ticket, I say stick to your guns. Their cameras must have made a mistake in our case.”

The Concourse shopping centre car park.

The Champion has received a number of complaints about Smart Parking in recent weeks and the issue has also been raised by Skelmersdale North Councillor Neil Furey.

In response, a Smart Parking spokesman told us: “Smart Parking manages the car park at the Concourse shopping centre for the good of motorists and shoppers.

“In this case a charge was issued by our automatic camera system and then cancelled following a manual review. We continue to operate at the shopping centre fully in line with British Parking Association guidelines.”

The Skelmersdale Veterans at the National Arboretum.

Local veterans pay their respects at national Remembrance site

MEMBERS of the Skelmersdale Veterans’ Association enjoyed a trip to the National Memorial Arboretum, the country’s year-round national site of Remembrance at Alrewas, near Lichfield.

They were joined by family and friends for the visit to the 150-acre site described as a “living, growing tribute to those who have served and continue to serve our country.”

During their visit the veterans and guests paid their respects to members of the armed forces who had died in both World Wars, the Falklands conflict, Northern Ireland, the two Gulf Wars and Afghanistan.

And they enjoyed an extensive tour of site, which also remembers victims of terrorism, situated in picturesque Staffordshire countryside.

Meanwhile, closer to home the Skelmersdale Veterans are planning visits to local primary schools to mark the 75th anniversary of the D-Day landings in Normandy, complete with memorabilia associated with both World Wars.

Any school interested playing host to the association is asked to contact Alan Lewis on 07939 660 048.

The veterans are also teaming up with Skelmersdale Action for Youth (SAY) and Skelmersdale Library to create a Silent Soldier display at the library again.

A Silent Soldier was on display at the library in Southway last year to mark the 100th anniversary of the end of the First World War One.

Veterans will also be on hand at the display with memorabilia from the World Wars as well as more recent conflicts.

The group’s chairman, Alan Lewis, said: “I would like to offer my thanks to Paul Mosquito for planning the trip to the National Memorial Arboretum and also to all the veterans and civilians who attended.”

What a load of rubbish! Resident collects nine bin bags of discarded items after council refutes litter claims

Report by Henry James

Authority says passing motorists are to blame

ANOTHER Champion reader has contacted us in the row over litter in Skelmersdale.

It follows our recent story in which West Lancs Council had refuted claims that the area near to the ‘Skelmersdale World Class For Business' sign situated off the M58 was covered in unsightly rubbish giving a poor first impression of the town to visitors.

An Up Holland resident, who did not wish to be named, had said the sign, which celebrates the town’s link with big businesses such as Walkers and Hotter Shoes, was surrounded by litter discarded by motorists.

However the council said that an inspection of the site had found no litter present.

Now though another reader from Up Holland, Brian Rigby, has contacted us to tell us he collected NINE bags of rubbish in the area near to the sign!

Impact

He said he was so incensed after reading the council’s statement that he went to gather the ‘evidence’ himself!

Mr Rigby said: “Despite what the council said I filled nine, full-size white bin bags with rubbish. I spent an hour doing it with a litter-picker

“To be honest, I had been meaning to do it for ages. It was mainly water bottles, hundreds of cans and fast-food wrappers. You can see the litter more clearly in winter before the grass grows.

“The people who are doing this are just lazy. Although it’s a minority they have the biggest impact.

“They are rubber-stamping a bad reputation for the town - it certainly isn’t ‘world class’ when you see all this litter.”

A council spokesman commented: “The council deploy staff on a daily basis to undertake cleansing duties across the borough. Those that visited this area for an inspection when we were first told there might be an issue found no litter present around the sign.

“The likely source of litter is drivers discarding waste from their vehicles so litter can accumulate there at any time. Staff will inspect the site again. We would ask people who spot litter issues to report them online through the council website www.westlancs.gov.uk. Please give full details, including address or location and type of rubbish.

“The council would encourage people in all parts of the borough to dispose of their litter appropriately to help keep our streets clean, either by using a litter bin if one is nearby or taking it home and putting it in their household bin.

“The council employs officers whose role includes dealing with litter offences. These officers regularly issue fixed penalty notices for £75 when they observe people dropping litter and take action through the courts if they are not paid.”

County's maternity service surpasses national target for same carer provision

Report by Henry James

THE Lancashire and South Cumbria maternity service has surpassed the national target to provide women with the same carer throughout pregnancy.

Partnership work across maternity services in Lancashire and South Cumbria has resulted in 29.2% of women now being booked onto pathways which can offer continuity of carer.

This exceeds the national target, set out in the Better Births maternity transformation plan, for 20% of women to receive continuity of carer throughout pregnancy, birth and the postnatal period, by March this year.

The four main NHS providers of maternity services across Lancashire and South Cumbria have worked together to form a local maternity system known as Healthier Lancashire and South Cumbria Better Births.

Through partnership working Better Births aim to remove boundaries; improve choice, safety and experience of maternity services and deliver consistent care to women and their families.

Delivery of continuity of carer is associated with a significant increase in positive outcomes for mum and baby. These include a decreased need for caesarean sections, a reduced chance of pre-term births and a reduced chance of still birth.

The use of this model of care has also shown a greater uptake of public health advice such as stopping smoking and referrals to domestic violence services, improving the health and wellbeing of women and families.

In order to provide continuity of carers, midwifery teams across Lancashire and South Cumbria have adapted working styles and adopted new shift patterns. King's College London provided midwives and other maternity professionals with training during February and March of this year to demonstrate how this new structure and way of working can be achieved and the overwhelmingly positive impact this has on families and health outcomes.

As part of this work Lancashire Teaching Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust have introduced the pilot Eden Caseloading Team which will see midwives trained in all aspects of maternity practice allowing them to support women and families at all stages of their pregnancy.

Kim Parekh, team leader for Caseloading Midwives at Lancashire Teaching Hospitals, said: "We are one of the few maternity services nationally to have started a specific caseloading team. The caseloading team consists of seven midwives who will be the named midwives for around 280 women per year in a specific geographical area.

"The midwives work flexibly and provide 24/7 on-call services as a team. They see the women from the beginning of the pregnancy, during labour and then postnatally."

Vanessa Wilson, programme director for Women's and Children's services in Lancashire and South Cumbria, added: "The work taking place in Lancashire and South Cumbria puts us at the forefront of this new way of working and in good stead to meet the future national targets of, 35% of women to receive continuity of carer by March 2020 and 51% by March 2021."

The Better Births national review aims to improve the outcomes of maternity services in England over a five-year period. Continuity of carer is highlighted as a key aspect of the transformation plan to ensure care provided is safe, effective and reduces complications.

Local 'OUTSTANDING' Family Care Company doesn't want to rest on its laurels

Inspected and rated Outstanding

Care Quality Commission

CARING COUPLE ACHIEVE FIRST DOUBLE 'OUTSTANDING' RATING IN LANCASHIRE

A caring couple, who set up a local home care business six years ago, have become the first West Lancashire home care provider to receive a double Outstanding rating from the Care Quality Commission (CQC), the independent regulator of health and social care services in England.

Gail and Robert Godson, of Home Instead Senior Care West Lancashire & Chorley, based in Ormskirk, achieved renown in January 2015 when they were one of the first three adult social care services to be judged Outstanding under the CQC's then newly introduced Ofsted style inspection regime.

The couple's latest inspection, published this week, reaffirms the outstanding care provided to the company's clients, with the team clearly demonstrating continuous improvement by achieving Outstanding in four of the five key lines of enquiry and good in the fifth. To date, only 3.3% of domiciliary care service locations in England have received the coveted CQC Outstanding rating.

In this latest report, the Inspector said that 'people and their relatives consistently praised the effective care delivered by staff' and quoted one client as saying "I don't think they could be improved upon."

Gail said, "We employ the most amazing team who share our vision and values and it is thanks to their professionalism and support that we have been able to achieve this accolade and we would like to dedicate this tremendous achievement to all our current and former employees . "Because the inspectors speak to clients, family members and local health professionals they can see the difference we make to people's lives. We thank them all for their continued support as we work to change the face of ageing in the local area."

The Godson's team's enthusiasm shines through in the report with the company's CAREGivers quoted speaking warmly about their clients.

The couple was praised for 'continuing to be creative and providing support to help integrate people into their local community and combat social isolation'. This was in relation to the many events, community guide, trips and activities organised by the Home Instead team.

Home Instead Senior Care currently delivers quality care to 89 people who are living independently in their own homes. They employ a team of 51 caregivers who are matched to clients based on shared interests and care visits are of a minimum one hour in duration.

Home Instead West Lancashire and Chorley have been working extremely hard and closely with our local University , this has meant a complete service redesign which incorporates New Products and Innovative Services in 2019 , giving more choice for clients and their families, opportunities and flexibility to move between each service and the introduction of innovation and new technologies, to help people remain safely, and in the comfort of their own homes.

Three New Flexible Care Services in 2019

Re-Connect a light touch service including companionship, light house work, shopping trips etc.

Re-Assured for clients and families that want to retain overall direct management and ownership of their care and support needs but require additional support services that are not just limited to the actual CAREGivers visit , including all the elements of re-connect with additional characteristics such as home help, personal care, early to moderate cognitive support, medication administration , family co-ordination from our office based team , additional monitoring and reporting such as nutrition and hydration, skin integrity etc.

Peace of Mind containing all the elements from both re-connect and re-assured this is a complete 'wrap around service' for clients and families who are content and happy for Home Instead to take the management lead in their care and support provision, our team of CAREGivers and office based staff provide additional pro-active services that include : liaison and co-ordination with community health care professionals such as GP's, district nurses and pharmacists, manage challenging behaviours, increased client monitoring and regular reporting, virtual ward services, complex care support etc.

Additional flexibility has been built into our service offering, following a health needs assessment and or as health care and support needs fluctuate, clients and their families have the opportunity to move between packages, ensuring they fully retain the opportunity of choice, whilst remaining safe, in the comfort of their own home.

Low Level Clinical Interventions

Home Instead West Lancashire and Chorley are working with partners to introduce in 2019 a completely new range of enhanced Clinical Services, offered by a specialist team of competent and fully trained staff from within Home Instead West Lancashire , supported clinically by our own nurse practioner , to provide low level clinical services, in peoples own homes and to complement our local professional clinician colleagues

Innovation and Technology

Later in the summer of 2019 , Home Instead West Lancashire and Chorley are rolling out a range of bespoke Assisted Technology products including Apps for our Clients / Families and our CAREGivers mobile phones , providing real time service information to families, enabling real time changes to our person centred care plans, enhancing service monitoring, support and management controls. Introducing the very latest home sensors which can produce alerts 24x7x365 direct to families and our call centre. Providing bespoke tablets (similar to an Ipad) containing Apps exclusively designed to support people in the home and help reduce social isolation etc enabling us to connect better with clients their families and our staff in real time and deliver more cost effective care and support, helping Home Instead West Lancashire and Chorley to keep adults and older people safe at home , for longer whilst at the same time complementing our high quality one to one care services.

‘Health and Wellbeing’ day for those affected by brain injury

SINGING, boccia and relaxation techniques are among activities on the agenda at a free ‘Health and Wellbeing’ day for those who have been affected by a brain injury.

The Brain Haemorrhage Support Group (BHSG), which has members in West Lancashire, will join with other organisations to stage the event at The Brain Charity in Norton Street, Liverpool on Monday, May 13 between 10.30am and 3.30pm.

Aimed at anyone affected, either directly or as a carer, by a brain haemorrhage or other neurological condition, it will feature a taster of the wide range of activities and complementary therapies that many people have found helpful for their conditions.

Co-chair of BHSG, Linda O’Hara, said: “This is open to all whatever your level of ability or mobility. You can try your hand at a whole range of activities so come along and get inspired to try something new”

For more information about BHSG find them on Facebook or visit the website www.bhsupport.org.uk/.

Edge Hill survey reveals link between mental health issues and sport

FOLLOWING the first-ever nationwide survey of its kind, academics at Edge Hill University, in partnership with the group DOCIA (duty of care in action) sport, have announced that mental illness and poor mental health are commonly experienced by people who play sport, exercise or who work in the UK sport and physical activity sector.

Responses from more than 1,200 men and women aged 16 and above involved in more than 50 sports and activities from grassroots to professional level revealed that 57% had experienced a mental illness, with females (64%) being more likely to report this than males (51%).

Of those who had experienced mental illness, 40% currently did so (41% of females and 40% males). Significantly 70% of young women aged 16 to 24 said they had experienced mental illness with over half (54%) currently doing so. Men were more likely to currently experience mental illness from the age of 35.

Overall, approximately one in four respondents currently experience mental illness and one-third said they also knew of others who currently did so.

Anxiety, depression, panic disorders, self-harm, PTSD and OCD were the most commonly reported illnesses for men and women, with men also reporting conditions such as substance use disorders (including alcohol) and women anorexia and bulimia.

Those playing or working in grassroots sport were more likely to currently experience mental illness (45%) compared with those in education (41%), in the activity/lifestyle/recreation sector (38%) and high-performance sport (37%).

Professor Andy Smith.

Experience of mental illness at some point in life was highest in hockey (79%), followed by climbing/mountaineering (78%), exercise and fitness (69%), cycling (64%), running (61%), triathlon (60%), rugby union (59%), swimming (56%), athletics (55%), golf (54%), multi-sports and rugby league (both 52%), football (52%) and netball (50%).

Current mental illness was most common in cricket (60%) followed by climbing/mountaineering (57%), rugby league (55%), multi-sports (46%), exercise/fitness (43%), rugby union (41%), football (40%), swimming (39%), cycling (38%), athletics and triathlon (both 33%), golf (32%), running (27%), netball (22%) and hockey (20%).

Over half of coaches (55%) and athletes/players (57%) had experienced mental illness, while 44% and 39%, respectively, currently did so. Volunteers also reported high levels of lifetime mental illness (64%), with 47% currently experiencing mental illness.

Other workers who were most likely to report experiencing mental illness included those directly involved in the provision of sport and physical activity, such as programme deliverers (82%), sports therapists (65%) and sport development officers (58%).

Lifetime mental illness was also reported by over half of respondents in managerial and administrative roles, including chairperson (69%), administration/secretary (56%), programme manager/director (55%), commercial/marketing (53%), and chief executive officer and manager (both 52%). When asked whether people in the same position as them would disclose experiences of mental illness to others in their organisation, just 10% of respondents felt it was likely or very likely that they would, while 58% said that it would be unlikely or very unlikely that this would happen.

Professor Andy Smith, Professor of Sport and Physical Activity at Edge Hill University, who led the research, said: “While we know that being physically active can have a positive impact on mental health, these results show that mental illness is common across all levels of sport and physical activity and is a particularly significant public health challenge at grassroots and community level.”

Watchdog identifies improvements in force's approach to child protection

LANCASHIRE Constabulary has welcomed a watchdog's findings of "significant improvements" identified in the way it protects children.

A report last year by Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary and Fire and Rescue Services (HMICFRS) into child protection arrangements in the force highlighted a number of weaknesses in its approach.

But in a post-inspection review, published this month, the inspectorate found the force had taken significant steps to address the issues and to improve the protection of children, meaning they are now better protected.

In particular HMICFRS found Lancashire Constabulary had prioritised child protection by:

- Providing further training for all front-line officers and staff.
- Introducing child protection coaches.
- Rolling out the 'Think Child' internal awareness campaign.
- Improved governance and management systems.

The inspectors said the force had worked hard to improve the culture of its workforce and that most officers understood their safeguarding responsibilities and were child-focused. They highlighted the "impressive" commitment and dedication to change shown by the chief officer team.

Deputy Chief Constable Sunita Gamblin.

The constabulary has plans in place to continue to improve in areas, namely where children are detained in custody; where children go missing; and recording and supervision of cases. Inspectors also highlighted these areas and have seen the plans.

Deputy Chief Constable, Sunita Gamblin, said: "I'm really pleased with the findings of the report which recognises the huge amount of hard work our officers and staff have done to improve what we do to protect children - one of the most important things we do as a police force.

"The commitment of everyone, from chief officers and senior leaders to front-line staff, has led to significant culture change with officers and staff now much more child-focused and a recognition that safeguarding is the responsibility of us all.

"We are not complacent and we recognise that there are areas where we can progress further.

"e will continue to work hard in this vital area until we can deliver an outstanding service in keeping children and young people safe in Lancashire."

Lancashire's Police and Crime Commissioner, Clive Grunshaw, said: "I welcome the significant steps taken by the constabulary to ensure children are safeguarded.

"Officers and staff are committed to keeping people safe and to making a difference every day to children's lives and I'm delighted this is recognised by the report, alongside our commitment to continuous improvement."

90% of county primary pupils allocated places at first choice schools

...and another 8% will go to their second or third preference

Report by Henry James

A TOTAL of 98% of primary school starters in Lancashire are getting a place at one of their preferred schools this September.

Figures for primary school admissions in the county show that 90% will get their first preference and 8% will go to schools which were their second or third preference.

And county council chiefs say the number of children receiving preferred places is likely to rise, as places are allocated from the lists of those who are waiting for a place, as appeals are heard and adjustments are made.

Lancashire County Council's executive director for education and children's services, Edwina Grant, said: "This is an exciting but anxious time of year for parents, as they find out where their child will be starting school. Careful planning means that 98% of pupils have been allocated a place at one of the schools they preferred, with the majority getting a place at the school they wanted the most. Importantly, once again we've been able to offer every child in Lancashire a school place.

Lancashire County Council's executive director for education and children's services Edwina Grant.

"School places are allocated fairly and objectively and every application is agreed upon using the criteria which have been agreed for that school. However, I know it can be very disappointing for parents if their child is one of the few who don't get one of their preferences and our local admissions teams will be happy to give information and advice."

This year, 95% of applications were completed online.

A total of 13,507 children have received primary school place offers this year. Parents will receive details about who to contact for advice and information on school admissions and appeals in the offer letter or email they receive.

Appeals are heard locally and those for Lancashire primary schools will take place during the summer term.

Parents requiring more information can visit the website www.lancashire.gov.uk/schools or call 0300 123 6707.

Fantastic response to Easter egg appeal for children's hospices

AN appeal by a West Lancs-based family-run funeral directors company for Easter egg donations for two children's hospices has again produced a "fantastic" response.

MLS Independent Funeral Directors, which has branches in Aughton and Burscough, makes an annual appeal in aid of various good causes.

And this year's effort, on behalf of Clare House Children's Hospice in Wirral and Zoe's Place Baby Hospice in Liverpoo, has resulted in more than 650 eggs of various shapes and sizes being donated.

The donated eggs will be used by the hospices for Easter egg hunts involving the sick children and their siblings.

Margaret, Lisa and Sally Hunter, and the family at MLS, said: "Our campaign took off fantastically again this year. We have received over 650 eggs of all various types, shapes and sizes.

"Our wonderful past and present families, friends, colleagues, businesses, local children's nursery, and the general public have been so generous with their donations.

"We have enjoyed collecting the eggs and have loved watching our wall of eggs grow so high.

"We cannot thank everyone involved enough for their generosity.

"Claire House Children's Hospice and Zoe's Place are overwhelmed with the amount of eggs received. A huge thank-you to you all."

Scouts to hold St George's Day parade and service

ORMSKIRK and District Scout groups will hold their annual St George's Day Parade through Ormskirk town centre on Sunday, April 28.

Starting from St Anne's RC Primary School in Aughton Street at about 1.50pm, the march will proceed up Aughton Street into the town centre, turning left at Church Street, then left on to Park Road and finishing up at the Park Pool car park.

Following the march at nearby Coronation Park hundreds of beavers, cubs, scouts and explorer units, as well as the volunteer leaders, will say prayers and sing hymns and songs to commemorate the patron saint of England, St George.

All are welcome to join in the commemoration at Coronation Park.

The scouts will also be collecting on behalf of Shelterbox, an international disaster relief charity that provides temporary shelter and lifesaving supplies to displaced families.

Male Voice Choir Recruiting New Members

The increasingly popular Aughton Male Voice Choir is holding its Annual Recruitment Evening on Monday the 29th April from 7.30pm at the Aughton Village Hall, Winifred Lane L39 5DH – see the below advert for more detail.
We currently have an active membership of 52 so, if you enjoy singing, good fun, camaraderie, and can hold a tune then these are our only requirements. New members are allocated to an experienced member to mentor them in their initial stages. We are proud of this system in overcoming some new recruits' initial concerns at not being up to our perceived standards and levels.
We like to enjoy ourselves along with the participation of our partners and friends. We perform on average 12 to 16 concerts per year in the North West plus a continental tour and U.K. tour alternately.
Audiences sing our praises, compliment us on our varied content and performance and thank us for providing so much enjoyment.
We are proud that we help various organisations to raise monies for charities or other needs. The average annual value of these monies is in excess of £10,000.
Please come along to this open evening, join in, ask questions or just enjoy listening to us rehearse and perform.
Some of our members' partners will be in attendance, so feel free to bring along your partner or friend. We shall be serving free refreshments half way though the evening.

YES! WE ARE BACK!

The Aughton Male Voice Choir is hoping to recruit new members to swell its popular choir.

We are particlarly interested in meeting gentlemen who must enjoy singing and can hold a tune, our only requirements.

Why not come along to our Open Evening on Monday the 29th April at 7.30pm in the Aughton Village Hall, Winifred Lane, L39 5DH

Some of our members' ladies will be present, so if you want please bring along your partners.

Fears about suspected hazardous materials being fly-tipped at Downholland Brook

FEARS have been sparked that asbestos has been dumped on the banks of Downholland Brook on the border between West Lancashire and Sefton.

The Champion was contacted by a reader, who did not wish to be named, who said that he suspected asbestos, as well as other potentially hazardous materials had been fly-tipped on the banks of the brook alongside New Causeway.

He said: "This is a continuous problem for farmers and wildlife, along with the many dog walkers as well as cyclists who use this area.

"It's a horrible thought to think that someone would put others at risk by dumping rubbish here in this beautiful area - especially asbestos!"

A spokesperson for West Lancashire Borough Council said: "Dumping household, industrial and commercial waste illegally is a serious criminal offence that carries a fine of up to £50,000. Offenders can even be sent to prison.

"The best way for people to inform the council of incidents is through the website, westlancs.gov.uk/flytipping.

"This waste in Downholland is on private land so it is the landowners' responsibility to remove the waste. The council will contact the owners with regard to their responsibilities in relation to the appropriate disposal of waste."

Labour's 'vindicated' claim over calls for new bailiffs regulator

Report by Kenny Parker

THE Labour group on Lancashire County Council says it has been vindicated over its call for a new body to oversee complaints about bailiffs' behaviour, after a parliamentary select committee recommended that a new regulator is needed.

A motion put forward by Labour at a meeting of the authority in February was defeated after claims that Conservative councillors had mocked the cases raised. In the 12 months prior to the meeting the county council instructed bailiffs to act in more than 6,000 cases.

Labour councillors Gillian Oliver and Lorraine Beavers highlighted instances of bailiffs arriving unannounced, gaining entry by false pretences and speaking to a neighbour about a resident's debts .

They said the residents in these cases were unwell or recovering from illness and were fielding more than one outstanding debt. In one case a resident did subsequently receive compensation from Lancashire County Council.

County Councillor Gillian Oliver.

Last week, the Justice Committee concluded to Parliament that the current complaints system is fragmented and hard to navigate, especially for vulnerable people. It recommended an independent complaints body of the kind called for by Citizens Advice and others and making body-worn cameras mandatory for bailiffs visiting homes and businesses, to help in the cases of subsequent dispute.

Cllr. Oliver said: "Both Cllr. Beavers and I had received complaints about the behaviour of bailiffs sent by Lancashire County Council. When we raised it in the council meeting, real cases about vulnerable people in Lancashire being exposed to humiliation and intimidation, the response from the Conservatives was sickening. We were asking for some humanity to be brought into this realm of the council's work and we are glad now to have the backing of a Government committee."

In response, Cllr. Driver said: "It is an unfortunate fact that local authorities have, on a limited number of occasions, to engage bailiffs to collect the monies due to them. The previous Labour administration used the same bailiffs as we currently do.

"Whilst I and my colleagues don't doubt for a minute that sadly there are instances of bailiffs behaving inappropriately, there is absolutely no evidence that bailiffs employed by LCC have done anything other than act in accordance with the law and best practice.

"In the council debate, I challenged councillors Beaver and Oliver to provide me with details of their claims so that I could investigate them but I have heard nothing, which confirms to me that they were simply engaging in their now common practice of scaremongering."

Staff at Pontville School, Ormskirk which has been rated 'outstanding' by Ofsted inspectors.

School awarded top marks by watchdog

STAFF and pupils at a West Lancs specialist school are celebrating after receiving another glowing report from regulator Ofsted.

Pontville School in Black Moss Lane, Ormskirk has once again been given an 'outstanding' rating following its latest inspection by the watchdog.

The co-educational, independent, specialist day and residential school caters for children between the ages of five and 19 with speech, language and social communication difficulties.

It was judged 'outstanding' across all areas and overall by inspectors, having gained a similar grading following previous inspections carried out in 2009, 2013 and 2016.

The Oftsed report was glowing in praise for the school, its staff and the overall approach to the education, care and support of each child.

In particular, it noted:

Pupils behave outstandingly well. They are caring, active, responsible citizens who love coming to school and are proud to wear the Pontville badge.

The head teacher is highly ambitious, determined and innovative. She ensures that leaders, teaching staff, therapists and support workers are trained well and are effective. She also ensures that pupils receive excellent care and support to achieve their absolute best.

Pupils and students benefit from a highly stimulating personalised curriculum. This secures their interests and prepares them well for future education and employment.

Parents and carers are fully involved in the life of the school. Typically, they commented that their children make "unbelievable progress". Parents, and representatives from local authorities, say that children are safe and well cared for.

Head teacher, Justine Sims, said: "We could not be any prouder of our Ofsted outcome and report which celebrates the work that our pupils, staff and families do at every level to make a difference to the children and young people at Pontville.

"What runs through our report is the teamwork that makes Pontville such a brilliant place to work and learn in.

"What was evident is how far we have come over this past three years since our last inspection and we have so many more exciting ideas for the future to continue to make improvements in all that we do at Pontville.

"Thanks go to the most committed and dedicated staff team."

Police support 'Silent Solution' scheme for 999 calls from mobiles

Campaign aims to raise awareness of potential lifesaver for victims of stalking or domestic abuse

Report by Kenny Parker

LANCASHIRE Police are backing the Make Yourself Heard Campaign to raise awareness of the silent 999 system which could save lives of stalking or domestic abuse victims.

Called the Silent Solution, the system allows someone calling 999 from a mobile phone who is too scared to speak or make a noise to press 55 when prompted. This then tells police, when the call comes through that it is a genuine emergency and that 999 has not been dialled by accident.

The campaign was launched this month by the Independent Office for Police Complaints during National Stalking Awareness Week.

The police say the system is well established and could literally be a life-saver for a victim of stalking or domestic abuse. However, lots of people still don't know about it.

The campaign also highlights that calling 999 will not necessarily lead to a police response.

All calls made to 999 are received by BT call centre operators. If there is no response to a request for which service is required and the operator is suspicious the call will be transferred to a police call handler.

Lancashire Police are supporting The Make Yourself Heard campaign.

However, for 999 calls made from mobiles in situations where the BT operator can't decide if an emergency service is needed, the caller will be transferred to Silent Solution, which has been designed to filter out the large number of accidental and hoax calls. It also helps people who are unable to speak, but who genuinely need police assistance.

Callers put through to Silent Solution hear an automated police message which asks them to press 55 to be put through to police call management. If they don't press 55, the call will be ended.

The Silent Solution system is not available on landlines as they are less likely to generate accidental 999 calls. If a 999 caller from a landline does not answer questions and BT operators cannot decide whether an emergency service is needed, then they will transfer the call to a police call handler as doubt exists.

If the handset is replaced, the landline may remain connected for 45 seconds in case it is picked it up again. If it is picked up again during this 45 seconds and the BT operator is concerned, the call will be connected to police.

When 999 calls are made from landlines, information about where the caller is located should be automatically available to the call handlers to help provide a response.

Efforts to publicise mental health and wellbeing put Chris in line for top award

AN Edge Hill University student's efforts to publicise mental health and wellbeing issues in higher education has been recognised with a nomination at the 2019 Student Nursing Times Awards.

Chris Steele is on the shortlist for Most Inspirational Student Nurse of the Year, with the winner to be announced on Friday, April 26 at London's Grosvenor House Hotel.

The 28-year-old, a final-year Children's Nursing undergraduate is among eight nominees from the Ormskirk university, represented across five categories.

Chris said: "The basis of my nomination was for my extra-curricular studies, as well as my student representative work, for getting involved and becoming a Student Quality Ambassador [SQA]."

The father-of-five was inspired to help others by his own experiences. "My father passed away when I was 16 and my mental health has always been a battle. However, over the years I have learnt many ways to help manage my mental health, and I wanted people to know that mental health issues shouldn't stop them from doing what they want to do; that it's OK not to be OK; and the importance of seeking help and support when you need to."

The recognition comes from his campaigning to help improve students' university experience, by creating a safe peer-to-peer support network designed for the unique and challenging nature of nursing courses.

Through becoming an SQA he was able to engage with his peers, the Faculty of Health and Social Care, the newly-created Nurse Society and the Students' Union to meet the university policy and guidance in setting up his 'Time2thinkofU' campaign. This entailed creating a dedicated social media outlet and a monthly drop-in-session on campus, facilitated by the university wellbeing and chaplaincy teams.

Focused at Edge Hill, the programme was set up to cover other North West universities, including Liverpool John Moores, Chester, Bolton and Cumbria.

"I've travelled to universities, speaking about the project to students and staff, about the potential support out there for people who need it."

The campaign has helped students access help and support, to address specific issues and better manage their overall health during their studies, with Chris also designing and making available additional innovative resources including a self-help toolkit, calming techniques and an online 'know yourself' quiz.

His work has also led to a unique opportunity to write for the Royal College of Nursing's Nursing Children and Young People journal, in which he has been able to address key industry issues.

It's holiday time so Jim let me write this column myself

HELLO, I'm Tina - Jim's real dog.

A bit ago now I wrote his Dog column for him, I can't remember if he was poorly, away, or just sulking. Anyway, it went down so well that Jimbo wouldn't let me have another go - 'till now - and that's only because he's busy planning our next holiday on our river boat in some far-off bit of the country which means a long and boring confinement in a motor vehicle.

Actually, I quite like the 'new' car compared to the one Cinders and I used to travel in. This one is bigger and better for dogs. We have the back bit all to ourselves with a special carpet to lie on.

Me and Cinders look forward to our holidays because we get at least one, often two new walks every time the boat stops. And the other people on their boats are often very nice too. You'd be surprised at how many have doggies too on the Broads (which I think is where we are when we're there).

I like meeting other dogs - most of them anyway - and also other people who usually have the good sense to admire me. Cinders likes anybody who has a dog with them as she's worked out that they will very probably have dog biscuits as well. And being the greedy little pig that she is, she thinks (usually quite rightly) that they will offer her some.

Talking of getting things, I met a lovely lady the other day. She had called when we were out but left a note saying she would come back with a bag of dog treats. Well, anyone who has the forethought to do that MUST be kind and good!

Cinders got so cross though when she did return. Jim knows she is the greediest creature on earth and will eat anything - wrappers included. And she has the daft habit of pestering anyone foolish enough to offer her food. So when the nice lady came, Jim shut her in her bedroom.

Anyway, she never got the chance to beg for more treats from the nice lady, which was probably just as well.

The lady thought I behaved beautifully. I just lay curled up on Jim's chair and made just occasional muted woofs to remind her that I was till on guard. I didn't get any more treats though, but praise can be just as sweet. And when she went, Jim was in a very good mood and praised me for behaving as a Good Dog should.

I've seen such a lot of really happy dogs recently. I think most of their 'owners' - I'm not certain that's an appropriate word, it doesn't sound politically correct to me - must be very kind and love them lots.

When I was a puppy, long ago now, I thought my name was 'Hey You' for a while but it didn't really matter because I knew I was safe and secure.

Talking of which, and our holidays on our boat, in all the years I've been going there I have fallen into the water only twice. Once when, as just a pup, I slipped on the wet deck getting off; and the other on a very dark night when I went ashore to do my ablutions and, silly me, literally walked into the river 'cause I couldn't see properly.

Now, Cinders - my junior when it comes to boating - has fallen in several times. Her trouble is that she doesn't seem to realise that she has a back end. Once her front paws are safely on the bank she tends to forget her rear half - and more than twice her back legs have disappeared into the gap 'twixt boat and bank and, kerplop, in she goes.

And unlike me, who just stays by the boat when I have fallen in, idiot Cinders as often as not swims over to the opposite shore and tries to get out there - which one dark night meant poor old Jim having to untie the boat and go over to retrieve her.

Silly Cinders.

Anyway, must go now, walkies await.

Countdown to EU elections underway despite uncertainty over Brexit

IT'S not just local council elections that voters in West Lancs are due to take part in next month - the countdown for the European Parliament elections is also underway despite the continuing uncertainty over Brexit.

After the Local Elections on Thursday, May 2, residents will then face the prospect of having to turn their attention to the EU elections to select the region's eight Members of the European Parliament (MEPs) on Thursday, May 23.

The North West European Elections count and declaration is then due to take place in Manchester on Sunday, May 26, after polls close across Europe.

Initially, the elections were not planned as the UK's withdrawal from the European Union following the 2016 referendum was set for March 29, 2019. But with the Brexit deadline delayed until autumn, the UK will still be an EU member when the European Parliament elections get underway and will be required to put forward candidates.

If the British Parliament votes on a Brexit deal before May 22 (the eve of the elections) we won't have to hold EU elections. Candidate nominations must be submitted by 4pm today (Wednesday, April 24).

It is uncertain for how long, if at all, British MEPs will sit before the Brexit withdrawal process is complete, as the extension agreement provides for early termination as soon as the withdrawal agreement is ratified.

Joanne Roney, Regional Returning Officer for the European Parliament Elections in the North West, said: "While the circumstances around these elections are somewhat unexpected, this election gives people the opportunity to elect the politicians who will represent them in Europe until such point as the UK leaves the European Union. Election teams across the North West are focused on the effective organisation of these elections and we don't want anyone to miss out on their right to vote because they are not registered."

People will not be able to vote unless they have ensured they are on the Electoral Register. Anyone not registered already is advised to visit http://www.gov.uk/register-to-vote to do so by the Tuesday, May 7 deadline.

European Union citizens living in West Lancs are eligible to vote in either the UK or in their country of origin but not both. To vote in the UK, they must be registered to vote and have completed an additional form.

Anyone who is on the electoral register can choose to register to vote by post. Applications for a postal vote in this election must be received by 5pm on Wednesday, May 8. The deadline for proxy votes is 5pm on Wednesday, May 15.

Drop-in surgeries for potential foster carers to be held at county libraries

AS part of Lancashire County Council's ongoing drive to recruit new foster carers drop-in surgeries are to be held in libraries across the county over the coming months,

The first of these will be held at Fleetwood Library, North Albert Street, on Tuesday, April 30 from 10am to 3pm.

An advantage of attending such events is that people's eligibility can be checked on the spot and an initial home visit booked immediately, to fast-track individuals through the process. Current foster carers and staff from the council's fostering service will be on hand to answer questions, talk residents through the process, offer advice and share their own experiences of fostering.

With around 20 additional Lancashire children coming into care each week and needing urgent foster care placements, the authority is keen to attract local people and families to step forward. Some need foster care for a few days, while others need care for up to a year or more.

The county council's head of adoption, fostering, residential and youth offending service, Barbara Bath, said: "Drop-in surgeries and holding them in libraries are both recent approaches we have been trying out to recruit the new foster carers that are needed. We recognise people have busy lives, so this could be a useful way of being able to talk to those who are interested in finding out more. It should make it easier for people to talk to us if the library is located close to where they live.

"These events are very informal to encourage people to have a chat with us. Just check our website on a regular basis for up-to-date information."

Fostering drop-in surgeries are to be held in the county's libraries. Photo posed by models.

The county council has increased the allowances payable to new foster carers, so now they can expect to receive between £241 and £300 per week for each child they care for. People who have considered fostering before, but weren't sure they could afford it, are advised to go along to a drop-in surgery to find out if it could now be viable.

Future information evenings will also be held at County Hall in Preston. Foster carers and staff from the authority's fostering service will also be attending community events during the year.

A package of support is available 24/7 to help foster carers in their role, including local support groups, their own social worker, a dedicated helpline and flexible training.

Anyone interested but unable to go along to a drop-in event can call the fostering recruitment team on 0300 123 6723 or visit www.lancashire.gov.uk/fostering.

Anti-Brexit campaigners accuse MP of ignoring their calls for a meeting

Report by Kenny Parker

THE leader of an anti-Brexit group in West Lancashire has complained about the difficulty of engaging MP Rosie Cooper in debate over the issue claiming that there is a "democratic deficit" in the borough.

Members of the People's Vote West Lancashire (PVWL) group, which is campaigning for a public vote on any final exit deal with the European Union, argue that despite the referendum result democracy is an ongoing conversation and debate but say that all attempts to engage the local MP about it have failed.

Dr Ken Lamden, volunteer team leader for PVWL, said: "We have been met with a 'closed-door' policy when it comes to meeting MP Rosie Cooper. Three written requests for meetings have been ignored.

"MPs are now making the most important decision that they have been asked to take arguably since the Second World War. It will have ramifications that will endure for decades to come.

"To our knowledge, Rosie Cooper, who has voted against the Labour Party whip on several occasions, has not held any public meeting to explain and debate her views. Democracy is a process not a one-off event and there is clearly a democratic deficit in West Lancashire.

"MPs are having to respond to an unprecedented amount of Brexit-related mail but this is not an excuse for avoiding engagement. We know other MPs in the area have made themselves available to constituents. All we are asking is for West Lancashire constituents to have the same access."

In response Ms Cooper said that Brexit had become complicated with motions, amendments and indicative votes being presented to Parliament but that she did not believe there should be a second referendum.

She said: "Although a remainer, my position on Brexit has been consistent and remains unchanged, Quite simply the will of the people and the outcome of the referendum should be respected. In West Lancashire a majority of people, 55% voted to Leave the EU.

"Every day I am receiving hundreds of pieces of correspondence on this issue covering the full spectrum of views on Brexit - from a no-deal exit to remaining in the EU. I only have a single vote and cannot possibly satisfy all the competing demands on which way to vote, leaving other people disappointed.

"The Brexit votes have not yet concluded. There is still some way to go with many twists and turns before this issue is resolved. What is certain is that I will continue to represent the people of West Lancashire and honour the result of the referendum as best I can."

Trust's 'get in touch' call to people suffering with stress

TO mark Stress Awareness Month health professionals at Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust are encouraging people experiencing high levels of stress to get in touch.

According to the Mental Health Foundation 74% of UK adults have felt so stressed at some point over the last year they felt overwhelmed or unable to cope.

With this in mind the trust's Wellbeing and Mental Health Helpline and Mindsmatter Talking Therapy Service is encouraging people who may be feeling lonely, stressed or experiencing mental health problems to get in touch.

Lorraine Khalaf, Wellbeing and Mental Health Helpline manager at the trust, said: "Stress affects one in four people and as part of Stress Awareness Month we would like to remind people that the helpline is available to support anyone who feels they need it. No one should have to suffer alone and we urge anyone who needs someone to talk to, to get in touch."

The helpline is open Monday to Friday from 7 to 11pm and Saturday and Sunday from midday to midnight.

For more information about the Wellbeing and Mental Health Helpline, ring 0800 915 4640 or visit www.lancashirecare.nhs.uk/Mental-Health-Helpline.

Sefton Council's municipal golf course on Park Road West, Southport.

Golf fans invited to get in the swing at festival to coincide with Masters tournament at Hillside

GOLF-lovers in West Lancashire are invited to get into the swing of things at a special Festival of Golf organised by neighbouring Sefton Council to coincide with the British Masters tournament being at Hillside Golf Club, Southort.

With thousands of fans set to flock to the area for the prestigious tournament, a week of golfing activities is taking place at Southport Golf Links and Bootle Golf Course from May 4 to 12.

Organisers say the festival will appeal to both beginners and existing golfers, of all ages and ability, and is supported by the European Tour and Southport's Tommy Fleetwood who starred in Europe's victorious 2018 Ryder Cup team.

Tommy, who launched his career in the sport at Sefton Council's municipal course at the resort's Park Road West, is hosting the British Masters.

Included in the festival is free junior golf, foot and disc golf, free coaching and a longest putt challenge at Southport Golf Links; while the free junior golf will also be available at Bootle Golf Course during the week.

There is also an opportunity to get involved in the 'lonely hearts golf' where golfers can find a partner to play a round with. All the fun competitions will be free to enter, including a three-club challenge with some excellent prizes.

Green light for electric vehicle charging points on supermarket car park

WEST Lancs Council has approved the installation of electric car charging points at Booths store car park in Hesketh Bank.

The application for four rapid electric vehicle (EV) charging stations using existing spaces at the store car park was submitted by Instavolt, which installs and operates the stations across the UK.

The allocated spaces are at the south-west corner of the car park, adjacent to the entrance of the store.

A report from the council's senior environment officer, Gill Perkins, expressed concerns about the potential for noise from vehicle engines, doors banging, and associated people noise if electric vehicle charging points are accessed during the night and "strongly recommended" that a condition be added to limit the use of the charging points to daytime hours.

However, in his report to the director of regeneration and development, John Harrison, the case officer for the application said "the extent of activity associated with the charging points is not considered to be significant to warrant a restriction on times of use."

Mr Harrison granted permission for the charging stations, using delegated powers, with a condition that the work begins within three years.

£5,750 donations boost for Sporting Challenge

OFFICIALS of Sporting Challenge have expressed their gratitude after receiving nearly £6,000 in donations.

The West Lancs-based charity, which aims to provide sporting activities for people with learning disabilities to help them keep fit and healthy, has received £3,000 from the Leathersellers Charity, £500 from the Rank Foundation (Pebble Grants) and £250 from The Lee And Bakirgian Family Trust. The group has also received £2,000 from the John Moores Foundation to be split over this year and next.

Sporting Challenge supports around 60 people in the West Lancashire area to access a variety of activities including aerobics, bowling, boccia, kurling, zumba/dance, swimming and other fitness-related pastimes.

The charity provides transport to and from members' homes, as well as appropriate sessional workers to support them whilst carrying out the activities.

Sporting Challenge activities organiser, Edward McCarthy, said: "On behalf of Sporting Challenge I wish to thank our benefactors for these fantastic funding awards. It will make a huge difference and help us fund more sessions as our numbers are growing."

Slimming World

ADVERTISING FEATURE

Super slimmer is set to shine in time for summer!

A West Lancashire slimmer Sophie Needham, 33, joined her local Slimming world group last September and has lost an amazing 3st 7.5lb. She says she is happier and healthier than she's been in a very long time and is so looking forward to the summer 3 dress sizes and feeling fit and happy.

She says "The help and support of my Consultant and fellow members has been invaluable. I know I couldn't have done it with them. I enjoy sharing recipes and food ideas, I love that we're all in it together - supporting each other through the ups and downs. I always come away feeling motivated for the week ahead.

After gaining a considerable amount of weight after having my daughter, I was desperate to lose weight and be healthy again. And I knew Slimming World was the place to go as I'd been a member before and just knew it would work again.

I still found it hard to believe I could eat as much free food as I wanted - without measuring or counting everything and lose weight. And I'm still able to eat all my favourite meals such as curries, roast dinners and even takeaways and top of all that I can still enjoy a bar of chocolate, a packet of crisps or even a few drinks - guilt free. I've now got bags of energy and feel amazing. And I know the continue support I will never go back to how I was.

If you'd like to lose weight without ever going hungry and enjoy every step of the way - go along to your local Slimming world group. I was so glad I did. I promise you will too!"

SOPHIE'S FAVOURITE DAILY MENU

Breakfast: Strawberries, raspberries, fat free Greek yoghurt and a crushed meringue

Dinner: Home made Slimming World style kfc style chicken nuggets, home made chips & large side salad

Snacks: Skinny popcorn, hifi cereal bars & fresh fruit

Playhouse's Around The World In 80 Days was a 'breathtaking journey'

Review by Ron Ellis

Around The World In 80 Days
Playhouse Theatre

HEAVEN knows what rehearsals must have been like if the action-packed aerobics on display in this show were anything to go by.

Actually, this was as much a circus as a play and, to their credit, the cast displayed an agility worthy of any Big Top performers, actors Chipperfields and Bertram Mills would have died for.

With the minimum of props, most of them being large packing cases doubling as, among other things, an elephant, buffalos and a staircase, the stage constantly changed its identity, one minute a train, then a boat, next a prison, you name it.

Star of the show was Michael Hugo as Passepartout, the aide to the esteemed businessman, Phileas Fogg (Andrew Pollard), who sets out to win his wager that he can travel round the world in 80 days from London to America, calling at Bombay, Hong Kong, Calcutta and others along the way.

Hugo's rapport with the audience was one of the highlights of the evening. Playing his ukulele, he brought people up onto the stage and made up songs to sing to those in the front stalls. This in addition to his notable acrobatic activities.

Nyron Levy, a man who looked like he could give heavyweight champion Anthony Joshua a run for his money, showed considerable gymnastic skill as Captain Sopeedy while Charlie Chaplin look-alike, Dennis Herdman, played the shifty Inspector Fix with sinister guile.

A scene from Around The World In 80 Days

Equally dynamic were Pushpinder Chana, Matthew Ganley and Joey Parsad who made up the rest of the cast.

There was even an unlikely bit of love interest at the end when Mrs Aouda (Kirsten Foster) persuaded a reluctant Fogg to marry her.

Music and sound effects blended in perfectly with the action and the timing of the whole cast in their carefully rehearsed athletical moves was impeccable.

Directed by Theresa Heskins, this was a welcome return to Liverpool for a show that will always stand the test of time.

And time is what this story is all about.

Star rating: 7 out of 10. A breathtaking journey.

Liverpool's Everyman 'serves up a theatrical treat' for audiences

Review by Henry James

Sweeney Todd, The Demon Barber of Fleet Street, A Musical Thriller
Liverpool Everyman

The show has some strong characters including Mrs Lovett who becomes the accomplice and business partner of Sweeney Todd.

Mrs Lovett is played by Kacey Ainsworth, who is perhaps best known for her role of Little Mo in the soap opera EastEnders.

Ainsworth's character, Mrs Lovett, is completely different from Little Mo as she is confident and not afraid to speak out. Ainsworth shows her versatility her.

Liam Tobin brings a brooding intensity to the part of Sweeney Todd, whose customers don't appear again once they have entered his shop.

Dean Nolan as a completely over the top Pirelli provides some humour to the show. Pirelli, who has an assistant called Tobias Ragg, (Shiv Rabheru) is a rival barber to Todd.

Todd challenges Pirelli to a shaving dual. There can only be one barber in Fleet Street.

The show has good supporting characters in Emma Dears as the Beggar Woman, Keziah Joseph as Johanna Barker, and Bryan Parry as Anthony Hope.

Sondheim's music has some clever lyrics but takes some getting used to. The stand out numbers are Not While I'm Around and By the Sea. I like the way the musicians are involved in the action as well.

The Everyman producers have served up another theatrical treat. 7/10

Friends performing Gershwin concert at Parbold Village Hall

PARBOLD Douglas Music is to present the pianists, Peter Donohoe and Martin Roscoe performing on two Steinway Concert Grands at Parbold Village Hall.

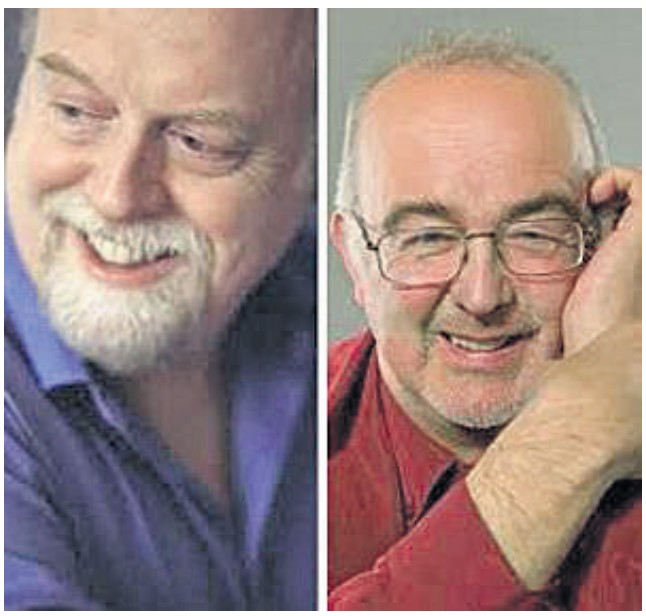
The Gershwin concert, which will take place this Saturday (April 27) at 7.45 p.m., has been sold out for three months.

The chance of witnessing these two friends playing Gershwin with 'superlative accomplishment and breath-taking bravura…infectious zest and affectionate swagger" is one of the rare and unmissable spectacles of the concert platform.

Their programme includes: George Gershwin's Cuban Overture, Rhapsody in Blue, Percy Granger's Fantasy on Porgy & Bess and Maurice Ravel's Rhapsody Espagnole.

Only a few standby tickets and any returns on the night are all that will be available.

Martin Roscoe and Peter Donohoe have been playing together as a piano duo since their student days. Their easy communication and impressive virtuosity have earned them great respect and their Gershwin and Rachmaninov recordings are described as "remarkable achievements" in BBC Music Magazine. Martin is a regular visitor to Parbold Douglas Music and Peter is making it a 'hat-trick', with three in a row Parbold performances, having stood in, at the very last moment, when one pianist was ill, and again, when international star cellist, Natalie Clein's pianist was unavailable.



Peter Donohoe and Martin Roscoe

Next month there are only stand-by tickets left for Parbold Douglas Music's Saturday, May 25 concert featuring the special duo of the UK finest jazz singer, Jacqui Dankworth and the UK and international guitarist and ever-popular, Craig Ogden in a relaxed programme that they've entitled 'I do it for your love'.

There are still tickets available for the Russian virtuoso pianist Nikolai Demidenko who returns from his tour of China to open the new 2019-20 season on Saturday, June 22 at 7.45 p.m., with his acknowledged brilliant interpretations of major works by Franz Schubert, Alexander Scriabin and Sergei Prokofiev.

Concert Tickets are £18 for adults and £5 for young persons and students. To book or order tickets go online to www.parbolddouglasmusic.org; E-mail: tickets@parbolddouglas-music.org, or telephone: 01257 498452 (booking answerphone).

Society presenting a showcase of light music

THE choir of the Ormskirk Music Society are presenting a showcase of light music on Saturday, May 4 at 7.30pm in St. John the Baptist Church, Burscough.

The programme will include many audience favourites, drawn from both European and American traditions in light music: In a Monastery Garden, Bird Songs at Eventide, The Syncopated Clock and Blue Tango are all to be featured, and sung with the choir's characteristic zest and enthusiasm.

It was in post-war Britain that light music rocketed to popularity, with many pieces performed as either the background or main theme to much loved radio and TV shows.

There were also immensely popular stand-alone pieces, such as Ronald Binge's Where the Gentle Avon Flows, perhaps better known today as the Elizabethan Serenade and still widely played under that name.

Alongside such nostalgic favourites will be a selection of humorous pieces, including Leroy Anderson's ever-charming Waltzing Cat.

Providing a commemorative aspect to the evening is the popular World War 1 song, Roses of Picardy, a piece used to help sufferers of shell shock regain the power of speech.

Then, in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the establishment of the RAF, the choir will perform the famous and much loved Dam Busters.

Talented young classical guitarist Jerome Ness, who will be performing a concerto with the OMS orchestra in their Summer concert, will present pieces by South American composers Barrios and Villa Lobos.

And, finally, let us not forget: May 4 is 'Star Wars Day' (May the Fourth be with you!). The brass players may have fun of their own commemorating this special day.

In all, this promises to be a concert of remarkable variety and contrast: something for everyone who enjoys the light music genre.

Tickets are available in advance from ticketsource.co.uk/ormskirk-music-society or from Stephen Henders (01704 841085) or on the door priced at £7, £5 for under 18/student. For more information, visit ormskirk-musicsociety.org.uk or follow on facebook.com/Ormskirk-MusicSociety.

BAFTA nominated actor is appearing at LOL Comedy Club

THE BAFTA nominated actor, Raymond Mearns, one of the leading lights of Scottish comedy, is appearing at LOL Comedy Club at The Atkinson on Saturday, May 4 at 8pm.

His list of TV and film credits is as long as your arm (including BBC2's "Rab C Nesbitt") and he's regarded not only as one of the top acts in Scotland but also in the UK comedy industry as a whole.

He holds the prestigious honour of having been chosen to represent Glagsow at the both the New York Comedy Festival and the Melbourne International Comedy Festival.

Raymond even went on tour with Pete Doherty doing support slots until Doherty was jailed!

He also has a deserved reputation for being one of the few comedians around who is just as funny when making stuff up off the top of his head as he is when doing material.

Southport Auto Centre's team are looking for classic Volvos like this for their display

THE team at Southport Auto Centre are holding a fundraising day for the North West Blood Bikes.

A large selection of vintage classic cars and motorcycles will be on display from 10am-4pm on Saturday, May 4. There will also be a raffle along with one-off items to purchase and an auction.

The North West Blood Bikes provide a voluntary round the clock service transporting blood and other essential items between NHS hospitals - and rely solely on public donations.

The Southport Auto Centre are an independent Volvo service specialists on Wright Street. This will be their second annual fund-raiser for the charity, as their first one raised £1,700.

Mark Regan from the Southport Auto Centre has launched an appeal for classic Volvo owners to join in.

He said: "We are having another fundraising day for the Blood Bikes this year and a large number of classic cars and motorcycles are coming down on the day.

"We would like to invite members of the Volvo Owners Club to come along to display their classic Volvos. We don't have many events in the region for the owners' club and we are keen to make this an annual event in the North West.

"The garage will be open on the day to walk around and get an idea of who we are and what we do.

"Spaces are limited unfortunately, we have the use of a large car park but we expect it to soon fill up!

"If you would like to display your car on the day, call 01704 884418 or come along!"

Audi's S5 model is out soon

AUDI'S equipped its performance-focused S5 model with a diesel engine for the first time.

The new versions of both the two-door Coupe and the five-door Sportback model will use a turbocharged 3.0-litre TDI engine and a back-up electric motor rather than the more traditional petrol units of the outgoing S5.

Audi says it'll be as quick as an S5 should be – getting to 60mph in 4.9 seconds and being limited to 155mph – but be kinder to the environment and spend less time at the fuel pumps.

There's no word on prices yet, but it's been confirmed that'll be in showrooms across the UK by the year's end.

There are no plans yet for the MG Hector to go on sale here

The brand new MG actually does look like a 'Hector!'

HECTOR was – according to the Government's own statistics – the 90th most popular name for baby boys in Britain back in 1905. After that it dropped out of the top 100, and has never reappeared since.

So I can safely say that there are few Hectors to heckle me if I declare that it's just about the worst name to give a new car. Yet that's genuinely what MG is calling its latest model. The MG Hector. Say that again. The MG…Hector?

The name's apparently taken from a World War II biplane – the Hawker Hector, which itself was christened in honour of a mythical Trojan prince – but this isn't anything like the Triumph Spitfire or the Bristol Blenheim.

Those were cars that lived up to their aeronautical namesakes by being sleek, agile and proudly British. The MG Hector, which is about to go on sale in India, but has no planned UK launch yet – is a rebadged version of a rather bloated-looking Chinese 4x4, the Baojun 530.

Not since the Mazda MPV has a carmaker got a badge so depressingly spot-on. The new MG actually looks like a right old Hector.

Yet I want it to do fantastically well. Forget the MGB selling half a million units and becoming Britain's best-ever selling sports car; ideally the Hector, even if it doesn't come to the UK, needs to snapped up by roughly a quintillion eager buyers each year.

It's perfectly equipped to pull off such a feat, especially in its core markets of India and China.

The one thing the Chinese love even more than Britain's heritage is copious amounts of rear legroom, and the MG Hector has ample amounts of both.

If they released a long-wheelbase version and called it the William Wordsworth Special Edition, they'd double sales overnight. This is the country that called one of its cars the Byton – with no sense of irony whatsoever – simply because its name sounded English and imposing.

It's also offered with a sensible choice of a 1.5-litre petrol and choice of Jeep-sourced diesel engines, and MG – over there, at least – is selling in on its equipment levels and how it's constantly connected to the internet. It is perfect for the Chinese market, and I really hope that they sell every single one.

I mean it. Every single one, because the money MG makes from Hector sales is what it needs to finally fund the new sports car the rest of us have been crying out for.

Sports cars don't have a great reputation for powering profits – which is why Porsche makes the Cayenne, and why BMW reportedly sold every Z8 it ever made at a loss – but they're crucial when it comes to building exciting brands. MG desperately needs a new Midget.

Or, at the very least, a proper sporting saloon or hot hatch that lives up to everything the two most evocative letters in motoring stand for.

If the business case doesn't stack up on its own then it'll just have to be subsidised by all those people buying Hectors. Even if it means having to bring it to Britain, I reckon it'll be a price worth paying.

Just change the name. Apparently Hunter – which is also the name of an old aircraft – is back in the top 100 names to give your child. An MG Hunter?

Now, that's more like it!

If you think you can't afford to change your car...

Think again!

"I need 4 doors not 2"

"My car is too old now"

"I wish I had a bigger car"

"I need an SUV"

"I need something smaller"

"I just fancy a change"

"I need an automatic"

"My car just isn't reliable any more"

"I need a more economical vehicle"

"I want something a little sporty"

Linnets ease to comfortable away victory

Abbey Hey 0
Burscough 3

BURSCOUGH eased to a comfortable win against already relegated Abbey Hey with a 3-0 victory.

As the teams took to the field on a sunny afternoon it was clear that Burscough manager Terry Green had rested a couple of players, as he included Donald Eumessi, Danny Green and Cameron White in the Linnets starting line-up.

The Linnets opening goal arrived on 34 minutes when Jordan Lorde broke clear from the middle of the park and on entering the penalty area he clinically put the ball pasty home goalkeeper Ross Heywood to give his side the lead.

The second Burscough goal came ten minutes into the second-half. Terry Cummings put the ball in from the wing and keeper Heywood appeared to have the danger covered, but the ball was left nestling in the net behind him.

The outcome of the game was settled just after the hour mark with a third Linnets goal.

Dimitri Nkusu-Wasaulua put an excellent cross into the Abbey Hey penalty area, where Luke Gibson put an unstoppable header into the home net to make it 3-0.

The game had an end of season feel to it and with the game won Burscough eased off.

Burscough play tonight (Wednesday, April 24) when they have a game against local rivals Litherland Remyca.

Fringe players will have chance to shine on final day of season

THIS Saturday sees the last day of the football season for Skelmersdale United and Burscough, and for both teams it is a matter of completing their fixtures and tidying up the season.

Skelmersdale will be saying goodbye to the Evo-Stik League after a 13 year tenure when they entertain Colne.

Skelmersdale are hoping to be starting next season in the North-West Counties League at their new facility at Blaguegate Lane so in many respects there are happier times ahead as they look forward to their return to Skelmersdale.

Burscough make the trip over to Yorkshire where they will make a first ever league visit to Silsden.

There is nothing competitively on the game for both teams but both will be looking to make a mark for next season and it will give Linnets manager Terry Green an opportunity to give some of his fringe players a chance to shine.

Skem relegated after heavy derby defeat

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

Prescot Cables 5
Skelmersdale United 0

SKELMERSDALE United's 13 year stay in the Evo-Stik League came to an end on Bank Holiday Monday with a heavy derby defeat at Prescot Cables.

A rapid start from Cables saw Jack Lenehan flick through for Chris Almond who advanced on goal before being denied a chance to shoot by Michael Samson's well-timed challenge. United's first chance saw Ollie Taylor collecting a header from Tom Grimshaw as he connected to Alex Griffiths' throw-in.

Cables opened the scoring on six minutes, Jordan Southworth cutting inside before squaring to Luke Griffiths who fired past Ryan Kirkman for 1-0.

The hosts continued to threaten with Lenehan finding Almond who blazed over the bar before a stunning long range shot from Lenehan sailed past Kirkman into the net for 2-0 on 17 minutes.

Almond beat the offside trap and drew a superb save from Kirkman before a skilful flick and dash saw him evade a challenge from Tommy Lent and round Kirkman before firing through goal-line defending Lent for 3-0 in added time.

Any hopes of a United comeback were dashed within two minutes of the restart as Lenehan lofted the ball to Almond who chested down before slotting past Kirkman for his second as Cables led 4-0.

United's best chance came from substitute Declan Lewis who fired past the post before clever play from Southworth saw him pick out Lenehan who forced a superb diving save from Kirkman.

Cables wrapped up the points on 82 minutes with some luck, Lloyd Dean's flick-on found Almond who drew a strong parry from Kirkman which fell kindly into the path of substitute Matt Hamilton who slotted in for 5-0.

Despite the deficit, United still posed a threat with Lewis drawing a strong stop from Taylor after clever wing play from Michael Samson.

The hosts came close to a sixth as substitute James Edgar connected with a free-kick which saw Marvin Molyneux clear off the line.

The final whistle sounded to a mix of emotions, United sombre with their relegation to the North West Counties confirmed while Cables celebrated a huge win.

Skelmersdale United 0
Atherton Collieries 3

SKELMERSDALE put in one of their best recent shows but they still emerged pointless last Saturday.

On 18 minutes, Jordan Cover from 15 yards on an angle sent a low shot into the Skelmersdale net to give Atherton the lead and to settle their nerves a bit.

In the 35th minute a neat exchange of passes on the right between Liam Wood and Joel Douglas resulted in another worry for the visitors, but eventually the ball was hacked clear by their defence.

During the interval words had no doubt been said in the Atherton dressing room and they came back out onto the pitch with a more determined and more direct look about them, a theory soon backed up when a 25 yard rising shot from Danny Lambert just cleared the Skelmersdale crossbar.

Hardcastle was probably allowed too much space in the penalty area as he turned on the ball, his shot was blocked; however the ball went spinning off to the far post from where Tom Bentham has a simple job of finding the net from five yards to make it 2-0.

In the last ten minutes Atherton got on top again and in added time were awarded a penalty when Kirkman dived at Hardcastle's feet.

It was left to a former Skelmersdale hero of the past Gareth Peet to virtually condemn his former club to relegation from the penalty spot and make it 3-0.

Ormskirk lose by two runs to division's debut boys Orrell RT

THE sun shone brightly last weekend as the 2019 Liverpool & District Cricket Competition got underway with all our local clubs in action but it was a gloomy start for last season's runners up Ormskirk who suffered a narrow two run defeat at newly promoted Orrell Red Triangle who were playing their first ever match in the top tier, writes Glenn Wallworth.

The hosts chose to bat and thanks to Richard Everett (78) and Siddiq Patel (40) were able to post 193 up on the board, with Lancashire's new signing Tom Hartley taking 4-43 and the returning Jamie Barnes 4-24.

In reply, debutant Tyler McGladdery top scored with 77, Ian Robinson made 35 and another Lancashire signing George Lavelle hit 30, but their efforts were in vein as Sam Heeley (3-21) took the final wicket with the score on 191 to wrap up a thrilling win, with Afaq Ali Sartaj taking 3-53.

Reigning champions Northern began their campaign with a comfortable eight wicket home win against Rainhill while Bootle suffered a twelve run defeat at New Brighton.

The visitors had declared on 220-9, and Formby were on 210-9 in the 48th over in reply but final pair Amlyn Layton and Sabbir Patel took the hosts to victory.

In the Second Division, Burscough suffered a five wicket defeat at St Helens, the visitors were asked to bat and thanks to 45 from Alan Murray were able to put 164 up on the board, with Jimmy Davies taking 3-21. In reply, David Gaskell (32), skipper Craig Woods (27) and Matt Beilby (24) all helped pave the way to victory on 165-5.

Maghull started their campaign with a high scoring twenty run home win against Southport Trinity, the hosts elected to bat and thanks to an unbeaten century from Anthony Molloy (103* inc 8x4 & 8x6), 53 from young Australian debutant Joe Medew-Ewen, 45 from skipper Paul Walters and 30 from opener Jon Ring were able to declare their innings on 265-6. In reply Wim van der Walt who was skippering the side in the absence of the suspended Craig Prince almost helped pull off a brilliant run chase with 122 (inc 20x4 & 1x6), however his century and 39 from Eddie James weren't quite enough as Trinity were eventually dismissed for 245 with 6 overs remaining, with Liam Gibbons 3-38 and James Stanley 3-51 doing the damage with the ball.

This Saturday Ormskirk host New Brighton while Burscough visit Sutton.

Dalton win season's opener

DALTON beat Merseyside Commonwealth 2nds by 112 runs in the Southport and District League.

J Stockley fell to an outstanding catch. and Dalton soon lost another wicket to leave them on 60-2 after 19 overs but D Jones (50), M Numaan (27) and Tom Hares took the score to 200 before Jones was caught for 69 and Dalton on finished 214-5.

In reply opening bowlers Burton and Davies shared three wickets while Bains claimed four victims.
